

Hi, my name is Akul. I am the son of Ramu. My dad is a good man and he is always there for my family. Like your son, my dad is really funny, and he can always make me laugh. I never knew about my dad's condition until very recently. Once he told me, I was scared. I couldn't sleep well for a couple of weeks. I never had to experience anybody having a disease or condition. It was hard for me to think positive, but my dad was there to make me happy.

When I first figured out he had his condition, it was in 2014 or 2015. My dad told me he can't eat certain foods because of his health. This concerned me because food is what keeps people alive, not hurt people. Later my dad needed to get a surgery for dialysis. That was the beginning of a journey that scared me. I was helping my dad when he was recovering. But my mom is the one who kept him alive. She was there the whole entire time he was recovering. That is literally the character of my mom. She is helpful and caring. No matter what she tries to help.

The day my dad was notified about his surgery we were ziplining. We forgot that my dad had a condition at all. We just enjoyed life. We got the call that he has surgery the next day. I was scared/happy. But no matter what I stayed happy. The way I stayed happy is from my little bro Anshul. He inherits the humor from my dad and the creativity from my mom. But he is very sensitive and cares a lot for others. He made me smile everyday and cares about me. I never forget that. My dad's recovery was really fast and he was back to normal in no time. I'm just happy he is back.

Your son saved a very good man's life. And I am very sorry for your loss. And I hope you are ok. I am very sorry this letter is late. I hope we can do more letters. And I hope we can meet each other also! Because of your son & your help me and my family can live life again! Thank you so much from the bottom of our hearts. We pray to God so that you get better everyday. May your son rest in peace in Heaven.

Sincerely,
Akul
